Sportsmanship- Good sportsmanship is expected from all participants-managers, coaches, players and umpires.

Bench Conduct - Managers and coaches may not leave the dugout without permission except to go to a coaches' box. This includes between innings.

Managers are responsible for the team's conduct and the manager alone represents the team in communications with the umpires and opposing team.

Electronic Devices-There should be no electronic devices in the dugout. No team shall use electronic equipment of any kind, including, but not limited to walkie-talkies, cellular telephones, electronic tablets, or laptop computers for any communication with on-field personnel including those in the dugout, bullpen or on the field.

Penalty: If in the judgment of an umpire, a manager, coach, or player uses such a device during a game, the penalty is ejection from the game. (3.17)

Note: A manager or coach may use a scorekeeping application on an electronic device provided it is not used for communication of any sort.

Uniforms-

Players shall be in full uniform, and appropriately worn. Jewelry and pins on the uniform are prohibited. Bracelets or necklaces that alert medical personnel to a specific condition are permissible but should be taped if necessary for player safety

Managers and Coaches may wear conventional uniforms when permitted by rule. Otherwise, managers and coaches may wear a cap, sport shirt, slacks or walking shorts and closed toe shoes. Metal spikes are not permitted. Clothing may not display written messages or advertising for any product, service, or sports team other than Little League or their team. Inappropriately dressed managers or coaches will be limited to the dugout.

Scorekeeping- Managers are responsible for tracking their own lineup and that of the opposing team. Any person authorized to be in a team's dugout may also keep score for the team.

A manager or coach may use a scorekeeping application on an electronic device provided it is not used for communication of any sort. (3.17 note)

Managers, coaches, and players may not confer at any time with coaches, scorekeepers or spectators who are outside the confines of the field. (3.09) Managers may not use the Official Scorekeeper as their team's scorekeeper.

Time Management- Efficient use of game time is critical. By rule, there is one minute between innings during which a pitcher may throw up to eight warm-up pitches. (8.03) Managers are expected to cooperate with umpires in complying with this rule by having defensive players ready to go and using properly equipped warm-up catchers when necessary. Borrowing opposing team's catchers is prohibited.

Substitutions- Managers will announce all substitutions to the umpire in chief. Prospective substitutions are not permitted. The umpire in chief shall announce or cause to be announced all substitutions. (3.07)

Offense- Players may be substituted when their turn to bat has come or while they are on base.

Defense- Defensive substitutions must be made when a team is on defense. The manager should immediately report defensive substitutions made during the change of the inning to the umpire in chief. If the manager delays making changes beyond the one-minute allowed between innings the pitcher must stop warming up.

Pitch count- Managers may obtain a pitch count from the pitch count recorder for either pitcher at any time by requesting a count through the umpire in chief.

Equipment- Managers should inspect their team's bats and other playing equipment for compliance with the playing rules prior to the start of the tournament. Managers are responsible for rule compliance of bats and other equipment regardless of whether it has been inspected by an umpire. Equipment removed from a game for non-compliance with the playing rules is subject to appeal.
